JG Pulse Check

Fielded May 15, 2020 🙋 Fields Weekly on Friday

Status of Operations Due to COVID-19

"Some areas [are operating] below normal. Some areas, mainly those that mitigate the impacts of a pandemic, are operating above normal levels."

What the Return to Work May Look Like

In respondents' own words, the return to work will involve a phased approach, with some flexibility to determine where they will work.

Phased approach (employees will return in small groups over a designated period)

Option to work from home or on-site

32%

Personal protective equipment (PPE) to be worn on-site/in common areas

24%

Split shifts/alternating employees who work on-site and at home

24%

36%

Social distancing rules

17%

New workplace layout that allows for social distancing/sanitization

Temperature checks/ health screenings to allow entry

Activities Respondents Are Most Likely to Resume

When things open up, respondents are least likely to avoid activities that last for a shorter duration and that allow for more personal space.

Participating in classroom training

Attending meetings for business in person

Traveling domestically

Shopping in person at nonessential businesses